

Joshua Hackel, M.D., FAAFP

Primary Care Sports Medicine

Clinical Specialties:

Non-surgical orthopaedics/Primary Care Sports Medicine
Musculoskeletal Ultrasound for diagnosis and treatment of orthopaedic injuries
Regenerative Medicine and Injection Therapy
Peripheral Joint Injections

Education:

Medical School: 2000, American University of the Caribbean School of Medicine
Internship: 2001, Columbus Regional Medical Center, Columbus, GA
Residency: 2003, Columbus Regional Medical Center, Columbus, GA

Fellowships:

ASMI, Primary Care Sports Medicine, Birmingham AL,
under Direction of James R Andrews MD

Research Specialties:

Autologous Blood Injections (Platelet Rich Plasma Injections)
Stem Cell regeneration

Current Research:

Stem Cell research
Musculoskeletal Ultrasound
Hyaluronic Acid shoulder injections for glenohumeral Osteoarthritis
Osteoarthritis of the knee

Major Publications:

Hackel JG, Nicolais V, Adolescent with Rash, Photo Quiz. Am Fam Physician, August 2004.

Hackel JG, Verma S, Syncope in Athletes: A Guide to Getting Them Back On Their Feet. The Journal of Family Practice, July 2007; 56(7):545-550.

Hackel JG, Asthma Overview. Athletic Therapy Today, 2004; 9(2):28-29.

Andrews JR, Hackel JG. The Thrower's Exostosis Pathophysiology and Management. Techniques in Shoulder and Elbow Surgery, 2004; 5(1):44-50.

Scholarly Service & Honors:

Fellow of the American Academy of Family Physicians

Current Academic Appointments:

Clinical Associate Professor Florida State school of Medicine
Clinical Associate Professor University of West Florida

Current Society Memberships:

American Medical Society of Sports Medicine
American College of Sports medicine
American Medical Association
Florida Medical Association

Current Team Affiliations:

Northview High School: Team Physician
University of West Florida athletics: Team physician

Office Location

Suite 200
Andrews Institute
Gulf Breeze, FL

(850) 916-8700
TheAndrewsInstitute.com