

Christopher P. O'Grady, M.D.

Orthopaedics

Clinical Specialties:

Sports Medicine
Shoulder
Elbow
Knee
Hip

Education:

Medical School: 1997, Georgetown University School of Medicine
Internship: 1998, Long Island Jewish Medical Center Department of General Surgery
Residency: 2002, Long Island Jewish Medical Center Department of Orthopaedic Surgery

Major Publications:

"Insulin-like Growth Factor II in Myoblasts Induces Phenotypic Changes Typical of the Malignant Phenotype," with Minniti, C., Luan, D., Rosenfield, R., Oh, Y., Helman, L. Cell Growth Differentiation, 1995.

"Chondroprotection and Gene Expression Effects of Nutritional Supplements on Articular Cartilage," with Grande, D., Marwin, S., Osteoarthritis and Cartilage 8 [Suppl.B]: S34-35, 2000.

Scholarly Service & Honors:

Journal of Bone and Joint Surgery/ Orthopaedic Research and Education Foundation Resident Journal Club Grant, 2001-2002

American Orthopaedic Association- Zimmer Resident Travel Award for Orthopaedic Research, 2001

Intern of the Year, Long Island Jewish Medical Center Department of General Surgery, 1997-1998

Current Society Memberships:

American Association of Orthopaedic Surgeons Fellow
Arthroscopy Association of North America
Society of Military Orthopaedic surgeons
Orthopaedic Trauma Association

Current and Past Team Affiliations:

Foley High School Football, Team Physician

Office Location

Suite 200
Andrews Institute
Gulf Breeze, FL

(850) 916-8700
TheAndrewsInstitute.com